

Is this a good way to model a vertical vessel with brackets. vessel has 4 bolt holes, two per brackets. In this case do I need to define the R restraint. This model is show only one place where is bolt. The same is for all other. x with gap i need for sliding.

